

NORREDLAW PLLC

NORREDLAW/TRADE SHOW

CONTACT INFO

Dick Cassidy
dick@image212.com
214.214.7446
image212.com

NORREDLAW/TRADE SHOW
BACKDROP/TABLE DRAPE

OPTION 1

OPTION 2

OPTION 1

OPTION 2

ORDER NUMBER: 229

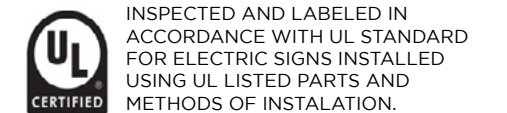

DESCRIPTION:

BACKDROP
10 ft. RPL Fabric Pop Up
Display - 89”h Curved Graphic Package (With Endcaps).

TABLE DRAPE
Full Color Table Throw 6 ft.
3-sided with Dye Sub Print.

CONTACT INFO:

Dick Cassidy
dick@image212.com
214.214.7446
image212.com

NORREDLAW/TRADE SHOW RETRACTABLE BANNERS

OPTION 1

NORREDLAW PLLC

Business Start-Up
Profit/Non-Profit, Contract

Franchising
Disclosures, Termination

Intellectual Property
Copyright, Trademark, Patent

Wills & Probate
Estate Planning, Contests

Debtor/Creditor
Chap. 7, 11, 13, Collections

Constitutional Law
Civil Rights, Gov't Overreach

Election Law
Term Limits, Election Contests

Social Media
Defamation, Cancel Culture

Litigation
From Texas to Supreme Court

www.norredlaw.com

COLORS

Yellow Logo

Brown Logo

OPTION 2

Key Case Victories

- Freeing Shelley Luther with the Supreme Court's Writ of Habeas Corpus
When Shelley Luther decided to open her salon in spite of its "non-essential" designation, the City of Dallas responded with a request for her to be jailed for contempt, and the trial court granted that request when Shelley refused to apologize. Norred Law was able to obtain a rarely granted Writ of Habeas Corpus from the Texas Supreme Court, which agreed that the basis for the contempt was legally insufficient.
- Forcing the City Council of Arlington to live with Term Limits
When the City Council of Arlington realized that the strictest term limits in the country would be on the ballot, it attempted to fool voters by legally adding additional confusion using last minute changes. Norred Law obtained a restraining order requiring the City to follow the law, and the Council abandoned the effort during a Sunday evening special council meeting. Arlington now has the strictest term limits in the nation.
- Forcing Texas legislators to allow recording of Committee Meetings
When Representative Byron Cook decided that mere citizens would not be able to record and broadcast the State House Committee meetings, Norred Law filed suit and Cook "changed his mind" and issued new rules. Texas committee chairs now generally allow recordings and know to expect unreasonable recording rules to be challenged.
- Invalidating sign ordinances used to prosecute pro-life counselors
When the City of Fort Worth wanted to protect an abortion mill by citing pro-life counselors for violations of noise and sign ordinances, Norred Law sued the City in federal district court, obtaining summary judgment that the content-based laws did not pass strict scrutiny.
- Invalidating rules targeting Open Carry from sharing the Constitution
When the City of Arlington passed an ordinance designed to prevent Open Carry supporters from passing out copies of the Constitution, Norred Law sued the city in federal district court for the unreasonable restriction on free speech and forced the city to change its law.
- Banning Red-Light Cameras
Noticing that cities such as Houston had played games with petition-based votes to eliminate red-light cameras so that they would lose lawsuits to a suing provider, Norred Law represented the petition gatherers as interpleaders and ensured that the suit would be properly prosecuted when Arlington's electorate resoundingly voted to eliminate redlight cameras, through both trial and appeal efforts.
- Pushing back on "Electioneering Squares" as unreasonable restrictions
After Waxahatche ISD held an election with a talking band package, its Board of Trustees decided that the next election would include 20 x 20 areas of election sites where electioneering would be allowed, and nowhere else. Norred Law filed suit in district court and forced that practice to end.

MEASUREMENTS

NORREDLAW PLLC

- Business Start-Up
Profit/Non-Profit, Contract
- Franchising
Disclosures, Termination
- Intellectual Property
Copyright, Trademark, Patent
- Wills & Probate
Estate Planning, Contests
- Debtor/Creditor
Chap. 7, 11, 13, Collections
- Constitutional Law
Civil Rights, Gov't Overreach
- Election Law
Term Limits, Election Contests
- Social Media
Defamation, Cancel Culture
- Litigation
From Texas to Supreme Court

www.norredlaw.com

MOCKUP

Key Case Victories

- Freeing Shelley Luther with the Supreme Court's Writ of Habeas Corpus
When Shelley Luther decided to open her salon in spite of its "non-essential" designation, the City of Dallas responded with a request for her to be jailed for contempt, and the trial court granted that request when Shelley refused to apologize. Norred Law was able to obtain a rarely granted Writ of Habeas Corpus from the Texas Supreme Court, which agreed that the basis for the contempt was legally insufficient.
- Forcing the City Council of Arlington to live with Term Limits
When the City Council of Arlington realized that the strictest term limits in the country would be on the ballot, it attempted to fool voters by legally adding additional confusion using last minute changes. Norred Law obtained a restraining order requiring the City to follow the law, and the Council abandoned the effort during a Sunday evening special council meeting. Arlington now has the strictest term limits in the nation.
- Forcing Texas legislators to allow recording of Committee Meetings
When Representative Byron Cook decided that mere citizens would not be able to record and broadcast the State House Committee meetings, Norred Law filed suit and Cook "changed his mind" and issued new rules. Texas committee chairs now generally allow recordings and know to expect unreasonable recording rules to be challenged.
- Invalidating sign ordinances used to prosecute pro-life counselors
When the City of Fort Worth wanted to protect an abortion mill by citing pro-life counselors for violations of noise and sign ordinances, Norred Law sued the City in federal district court, obtaining summary judgment that the content-based laws did not pass strict scrutiny.
- Invalidating rules targeting Open Carry from sharing the Constitution
When the City of Arlington passed an ordinance designed to prevent Open Carry supporters from passing out copies of the Constitution, Norred Law sued the city in federal district court for the unreasonable restriction on free speech and forced the city to change its law.
- Banning Red-Light Cameras
Noticing that cities such as Houston had played games with petition-based votes to eliminate red-light cameras so that they would lose lawsuits to a suing provider, Norred Law represented the petition gatherers as interpleaders and ensured that the suit would be properly prosecuted when Arlington's electorate resoundingly voted to eliminate redlight cameras, through both trial and appeal efforts.
- Pushing back on "Electioneering Squares" as unreasonable restrictions
After Waxahatche ISD held an election with a talking band package, its Board of Trustees decided that the next election would include 20 x 20 areas of election sites where electioneering would be allowed, and nowhere else. Norred Law filed suit in district court and forced that practice to end.

www.norredlaw.com

ORDER NUMBER: 229

DESCRIPTION:

33.5 x 80 in. Silverwing Single-Sided Super Flat Graphic Package.

AREAS:

TOTAL AREA SIGN:
18.61" SQ FT

CONTACT INFO:

Dick Cassidy
dick@image212.com
214.214.7446
image212.com

INSPECTED AND LABELED IN ACCORDANCE WITH UL STANDARD FOR ELECTRIC SIGNS INSTALLED USING UL LISTED PARTS AND METHODS OF INSTALLATION.

NORREDLAW/TRADE SHOW TABLE TOPS SIGNS

OPTION 1

NORREDLAW PLLC

Business Start-Up
Profit/Non-Profit, Contract

Constitutional Law
Civil Rights, Gov't Overreach

Franchising
Disclosures, Termination

Election Law
Term Limits, Election Contests

Intellectual Property
Copyright, Trademark, Patent

Social Media
Defamation, Cancel Culture

Wills & Probate
Estate Planning, Contests

Litigation
From Texas to Supreme Court

Debtor/Creditor
Chap. 7, 11, 13, Collections

www.norredlaw.com

OPTION 2

Key Case Victories

- Freeing Shelley Luther with the Supreme Court's Writ of Habeas Corpus
- Forcing the City Council of Arlington to live with Term Limits
- Forcing Texas legislators to allow recording of Committee Meetings
- Invalidating sign ordinances used to prosecute pro-life counselors
- Invalidating rules targeting Open Carry from sharing the Constitution
- Banning Red-Light Cameras
- Pushing back on "Electioneering Squares" as unreasonable restrictions

ALLIANCE DEFENDING FREEDOM EFF GOLDWATER INSTITUTE INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE

MEASUREMENTS

NORREDLAW PLLC

- Business Start-Up
Profit/Non-Profit, Contract
- Constitutional Law
Civil Rights, Gov't Overreach
- Franchising
Disclosures, Termination
- Election Law
Term Limits, Election Contests
- Intellectual Property
Copyright, Trademark, Patent
- Social Media
Defamation, Cancel Culture
- Wills & Probate
Estate Planning, Contests
- Litigation
From Texas to Supreme Court
- Debtor/Creditor
Chap. 7, 11, 13, Collections

www.norredlaw.com

Key Case Victories

- Freeing Shelley Luther with the Supreme Court's Writ of Habeas Corpus
- Forcing the City Council of Arlington to live with Term Limits
- Forcing Texas legislators to allow recording of Committee Meetings
- Invalidating sign ordinances used to prosecute pro-life counselors
- Invalidating rules targeting Open Carry from sharing the Constitution
- Banning Red-Light Cameras
- Pushing back on "Electioneering Squares" as unreasonable restrictions

ALLIANCE DEFENDING FREEDOM EFF GOLDWATER INSTITUTE INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE

17"

11" 11"

COLORS

Yellow Logo

Brown Logo

MOCKUP

ORDER NUMBER: 229

DESCRIPTION:

24 in. SilverStep® Tabletop - Clamp Bar - Silver - 45"h Fabric Graphic Package.

AREAS:

TOTAL AREA SIGN:
1.29" SQ FT

CONTACT INFO:

Dick Cassidy
dick@image212.com
214.214.7446
image212.com

INSPECTED AND LABELED IN ACCORDANCE WITH UL STANDARD FOR ELECTRIC SIGNS INSTALLED USING UL LISTED PARTS AND METHODS OF INSTALLATION.

NORREDLAW/TRADE SHOW TRIFOLD

FRONT

Business Start-Up
Profit/Non-Profit, Contract

Franchising
Disclosures, Termination

Intellectual Property
Copyright, Trademark, Patent

Wills & Probate
Estate Planning, Contests

Debtor/Creditor
Chap. 7, 11, 13, Collections

Constitutional Law
Civil Rights, Gov't Overreach

Election Law
Term Limits, Election Contests

Social Media
Defamation, Cancel Culture

Litigation
From Texas to Supreme Court

NORREDLAW PLLC

817.500.9433

515 E. Border Street
Arlington, TX 76010

www.norredlaw.com

How can we help protect your rights?

MOCKUP

BACK

Key Case Victories

Invalidating rules targeting Open Carry from sharing the Constitution
When the City of Arlington passed an ordinance designed to prevent Open Carry supporters from passing out copies of the Constitution, Norred Law sued the city in federal district court for the unreasonable restriction on free speech, and forced the city to change its law.

Pushing back on "Electioneering Squares" as unreasonable restrictions
After Waukegan, IL held an election with a large band package, its Board of Trustees decided that the next election would include 20' x 20' areas at election sites where electioneering would be allowed and nowhere else. Norred Law filed suit in district court and forced that practice to end.

Forcing the City Council of Arlington to live with Term Limits
When the City Council of Arlington realized that the strictest term limits in the country would be on the ballot, it attempted to fool voters by legally adding additional confusion using last minute changes. Norred Law obtained an restraining order requiring the City to follow the law, and the Council abandoned the effort during a Sunday evening special council meeting. Arlington now has the strictest term limits in the nation.

Forcing Texas legislators to allow recording of Committee Meetings
When Representative Byron Cook decided that mere citizens would not be able to record and broadcast the State House Committee meetings, Norred Law filed suit and Cook "changed his mind" and revised new rules. Texas committee chairs now generally allow recordings and know to expect unreasonable recording rules to be challenged.

Invalidating sign ordinances used to prosecute pro-life counselors
When the City of Fort Worth wanted to protect an abortion mill by citing pro-life counselors for violations of noise and sign ordinances, Norred Law sued the City in federal district court, obtaining summary judgment that the content-based laws did not pass strict scrutiny.

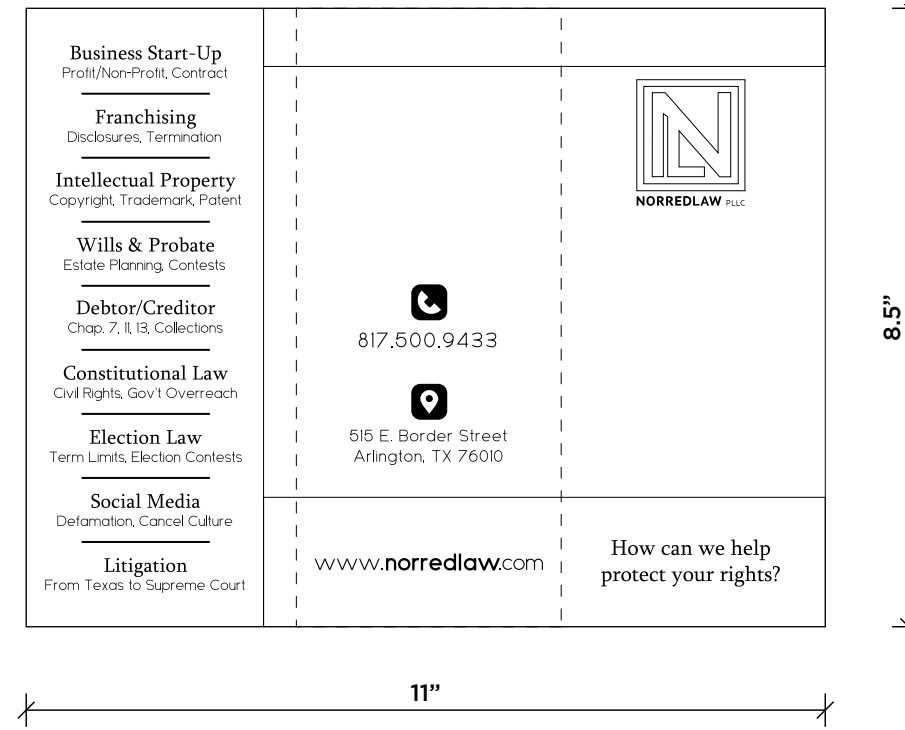

Freeing Shelley Luther with the Supreme Court's Writ of Habeas Corpus
When Shelley Luther decided to open her salon in spite of its "non-essential" designation, the City of Dallas responded with a request for her to be jailed for contempt, and the trial court granted that request when Shelley refused to apologize. Norred Law was able to obtain a rarely granted Writ of Habeas Corpus from the Texas Supreme Court, which agreed that the basis for the contempt was legally insufficient.

Banning Red-Light Cameras
Noting that cities such as Houston had played games with petition-based votes to eliminate red light cameras so that they would lose lawsuits to a suing provider, Norred Law represented the petition gatherers as interpleaders and ensured that the suit would be properly prosecuted when Arlington's electorate resoundingly voted to eliminate red light cameras, through both trial and appeal efforts.

Anyone can take care of your traffic tickets - we handle the hard things.

MEASUREMENTS

COLORS

Yellow Logo

Brown Logo

ORDER NUMBER: 229

DESCRIPTION:

Digital printed trifold letter.

CONTACT INFO:

Dick Cassidy
dick@image212.com
 214.214.7446
image212.com

INSPECTED AND LABELED IN ACCORDANCE WITH UL STANDARD FOR ELECTRIC SIGNS INSTALLED USING UL LISTED PARTS AND METHODS OF INSTALLATION.

THANK YOU!